

We Are Better Together

The last few months of 2015 saw lot of activity for PFC Nova Scotia including participation at the Inspire Justice Conference, the Willow Creek Leadership Summit and a Prison Ministry Seminar as well as several church presentations. We also held a volunteer orientation event with a group of 13 prospective volunteers from five different church communities. I am very excited at the desire of these volunteers to cooperate and work together to strengthen the impact that in-prison and aftercare ministry can have within their various communities. We truly are better together!!!

It was also a huge privilege to be a part of Angel Tree 2015. I was reminded again of the blessing of this ministry to the families of inmates. I spoke with so many children’s caregivers who expressed their thankfulness and told me of the huge difference that Angel Tree would make to their Christmas and that of their children. Thanks to all who had a part in its success this year. Your contribution is invaluable!!!

A new year brings with it new opportunities. In January we will begin our first chapter of volunteers who will be going into our provincial prison in Dartmouth. I look forward to bringing you good reports of their ministry in the coming months. I will also continue working to build the network of churches and individuals who are passionate about the work of Prison Fellowship. Remember we will only flourish with your help.

Partnership Opportunities

PFC Nova Scotia continues to explore opportunities for building a strong local funding base for our ministry here in the province. Would you prayerfully consider adding your financial support to this vital ministry in 2016? We express our special thanks to those who have already made this commitment and are looking forward to working with you to support those impacted by crime.
